World

An abnormal psychology has an abnormal relationship to the world. An antisocial psychology is in conflict with the world. An inane psychology is dominated by trivia and fear.

The inane produce the inanity that is the social fringe of horror and terror. That is, it is the fear of inanity that is inanity. And, it is inanity that populates a social margin of illbeing.

The inane have no sense of proportion. Inanity is an intellectual parasitism, desperate for the normalization of the false equivalence and the non sequitur. Constantly seeking evidence to disprove inanity in place of a confrontation with oneself.

Psychological greed is a middle class educational deficit between the extreme poverties of inanity and avarice. In common they have metaphysical blindness, the atrophy of critical faculty.
