Origin

The physical epistemological origin is physiological intellect. The metaphysical epistemological origin is physiological consciousness. The assignment from subject to object identifies the epistemological origin as the frame of reference in epistemology.

Our epistemological alternatives satisfy our demand for epistemological alternatives. Many have speculated upon the foundations of knowing and knowledge, demonstrating our awareness of self as body, homo sapien, gracine. Member of the many species of earth. Tragically fallible. Magnificently unique. Gifted in physical and metaphysical dexterity. We know, but what do we know. We speak, but what do we speak.

The objective of physical epistemology is framed by physics and focused by physical domain. Likewise, the objective of metaphysical epistemology is framed by metaphysics and focused by metaphysical domain.

This endowment is entirely satisfying of practical need. And this recognition establishes the foundation of epistemology.
