

The cost of the physical violence of war, and the metaphysical violence of misinformation, is dysfunction.

A micrometaphysical symptom of this dysfunction is recklessness. The difficulty of parenting is multiplied by the wanderlust imposed by recklessness.

A macrometaphysical symptom of this dysfunction is socioeconomic entropy, disorganization, or a lack of utility and value.